FOREWORD

In the year 1947, the present compiler and his brother, the late Philip Mack Smith of Washington, D.C., were co-authors of a work, issued in typescript, entitled:

The Ancestors and Descendants of Samuel Smith, Senior, of Middlefield, Mass. 1692144

Part I of this work consisted merely of three pages of text, a chart showing direct ancestors of this Samuel⁷ Smith, and a second similar chart showing the ancestors of Samuel's wife, Lucina⁶ Metcalf. Part II, entitled The Family of Matthew Smith of Charlestown, Mass. 1637, traced these Smiths in direct line down through the family of Matthew⁶ Smith of East Haddam, Conn. and Middlefield, Mass. (This Part II appeared in print in the American Genealogist, Vol. XIX, April, 1943, page 203) Part III gave in detail a compilation and story of all descendants of this Samuel Smith down to the year 1947.

Since Part I of the above work was very brief and gave only such vital statistics as the charts could accommodate, the present compiler has undertaken to set forth his own pedigree in two more extended compilations. The first is entitled:

Paternal Ancestry of Edward Church Smith

and gives in a series of sixteen Ancestral Charts all lines for eight generations back of his father, the late Edward Payson Smith, of Middlefield and Worcester, Mass. These are followed by a set of sixty-four Family Sheets, giving the history of each family down from the first emigrant ancestor to America, and where available, of forebears of that name in Europe. To this is appended a Supplement of somewhat wider range, which may be of interest to any descendants having a sense of humor and free from the sort of family pride which demands a Coat of Arms whether it is a genuine family possession or not, or a royal lineage, even through younger sons or female branches. Several such lines which others have worked out are given and our own connections with them are shown, and references to authorities quoted. But having no time to do further research, the compiler guarantees nothing. This is particularly true in connection with the alleged line of Descent from Adam, compiled for the Mormon Prophet, Joseph Smith, to whom we are related through his mother, Lucy⁴ Mack, second cousin to our Matthew⁶ Smith.

The second compilation, which the writer hopes in time to complete will be entitled:

Maternal Ancestry of Edward Church Smith, and will set forth in charts and Family Sheets all the lines back of his mother, the late Julia Mack (Church) Smith, of Middlefield and Worcester and Springfield, Mass. This is an elaboration of the brief first part and chart of a compilation, by the writer, issued in typescript only, in 1946, entitled: Ancestors and Descendants of Uriah Church, Junior, of Middlefield, Mass.

INTRODUCTION

To hand my descendants the story of their ancestry through my father, Edward Payson Smith, in a considerable compilation, consisting of several Ancestral Charts and sixty-odd Family Sheets to give additional details, may appear to some to be a work of scholarly study and research. But at the receiving end some readers may feel apalled when facing this mass of undigested items and documents, unrelieved by any outline or summary of significant facts. So, if possible, to relieve this situation, this Introduction will enumerate certain items of name, place and date to show where we Smiths and others came from, and certain high spots in history in which some of our ancestors were involved. This compilation concerns the paternal and maternal ancestries of all the children of Samuel Smith, Senior, of Middlefield, Mass. and not alone those of Edward Payson Smith, the youngest child, featured in this work.

By far the majority of our emigrant ancestors from Europe to New England, came, during the early part of the Puritan Migration of the seventeenth century, from counties in southeastern England, Essex, Suffolk, Norfolk, Kent and vicinity. These included families named Smith, Church, Metcalf, Olmstead and Pease. The Peases, however, were originally from Germany, perhaps about the eleventh century, A.D. France gave us several lines of French Huguenots, among them the Goodells and Vassalls. There was Captain John Vassall who supplied and captained two ships which helped to defeat the Spanish Armada in 1588. The Osbornes came from Wales. Scotland furnished families named Cummings and Mack.

It is by our line back through Mack, Bagley and Colby families that we inherit long lines of English ancestors which include such celebrities as Henry de Bohun, Magna Charta Baron, 1215 A.D. (See Page 93); Henry II, John I, Henry III, and Edward I, Kings of England (See Page 93); Alfred the Great (Page 94); Charlemagne, (Page 94); and even an Alleged Line back to Adam and Eve. (See Supplement A.) But to turn to more recent events and personalities of greater interest to us, the majority of our emigrant ancestors were among those English Puritans, who numbered upward of 22,000 and set sail from British and Dutch ports between 1620 and 1640 to settle New England. Our first ancestors in America, John Tillie and John Howland who married Elizabeth Tillie were all on the "Mayflower" and at Plymouth, Mass. in 1620. Others among the "old comers" were John Adams on the "Fortune" in 1621, Anthony Annable and Ellen Newton on the "Anne" in 1623.

There arrived in Governor Winthrop's fleet at Boston in 1630, Anthony Colby, Bygod Eggleston, William Vassall and Abraham Browne. And here we note that Matthew¹ Smith, arriving at Boston in 1637, settled on a farm he bought on Mill Hill in Charlestown, Mass., from which event we Smith descendants can claim that "the Battle of Bunker Hill was fought in our back-yard" (for Mill Hill was later called "Breed's Hill" where the Monument now stands. When the Revolutionary War arrived it drew into service in the Patriot Army Capt. Matthew⁵ Smith, Matthew⁶ Smith who answered the Lexington Alarm, Nathan Metcalf who was in the Battle of Concord, and Thomas Root. (See Family Sheets).

The Booths, Peases and Roots were prominent in Enfield, Conn. The Spencers, Churches and Olmsteads were founders of Hartford. Harmon and Dorchester were active in Springfield, Mass., and the Metcalfs and Richards in Dedham. But it was the settlement of the town of Middlefield, in Hampshire County, Mass., which associated the Smith, Metcalfs and Roots. And it was here that my father, Edward Payson Smith met and married Julia Mack Church in 1868. The writer plans to compile his ancestry through his mother in a work similar to this present volume.

CHURCHILL FAMILY

The Churchill Family is said to be native of Devonshire County, England, from which section also came John Churchill, who became Duke of Marlborough, b. 1650. From the Boston Transcript we learn that Josiah, John and William Churchill, the emigrants were sons of

A. JOSEPH CHURCHILL, of London.

I. JOSIAH CHURCHILL was born in England about 1615, probably Devonshire County.

He was one of the first settlers of Wethersfield, Conn., where his name appears on the records for Apr. 28, 1641. He had land in that town located along the Connecticut River, six acres and a house. The homestead faced the southern extremity of the Common. Mr. Churchill was a gentleman of more than medium estate and of reputation in the Colony. He was Juror of the Particular Court, 1643, 1649, 1651; at the Quarter Court 1664-5, and at County Court, 1666, 1670, 1675. He was chosen Constable 1656 and 1669; surveyor 1665; surveyor of highways, 1672. At his death, Jan. 1, 1686/7 he owned two home lots and 210 acres. In 1639 Mr. Churchill married Elizabeth Foote, dau. of Nathaniel and Elizabeth (Deming) Foote of Wethersfield, who was b. 1616, and d. Wethersfield, Sept. 8, 1700. Had a daughter, Mary.

II. MARY CHURCHILL, b. Wethersfield, Mar. 24, 1639; m. Samuel Church, son of Richard and Ann (Marsh) Church of Hadley, Mass. who was born abt. 1636, and d. Hadley, Apr. 13, 1684. She d. 1690. Mr. Church was made a freeman in Connecticut in 1657. Two years later he moved to Hadley with his father and lived on the west side of "old Hadley Street", "north of the middle way to the meadow." In 1663 his name was among those of eleven new Proprietors. He was appointed tithingman in 1667. Had a son, John.

COLBY FAMILY

A. THOMAS COLBY, a descendant of Richard, 2nd Earl of Pembroke (called "Strong-bow") and Eva Dermott, dau. of the King of Leinster, lived in Beccles in Suffolk, Eng. where the Colby house was called Roos Hall. He married Beatrix Felton, dau. of Sir Thomas Felton of Flayfort and his wife, Mary Garnon, who was the daughter of Sir Richard Garnon of Trymley, Suffolk and Elizabeth Grimston. Sir Richard Garnon is of the 125th generation in the alleged line of descent from Adam and Eve, through royal lines of Irish, Scotch and English Kings. He was also a descendant of Alfred the Great, William the Conqueror, Charles Martel, Hugh Capet, and Charlemagne. Thomas Colby had a son, Anthony.

I. ANTHONY COLBY was born in 1590 and lived at Beccles, Eng. In July, 1630, 1500 Puritans under the leadership of Gov. John Winthrop, landed at Boston, among whom was Anthony Colby. He had espoused the Puritan Faith and was No. 93 on the list of church members. In 1632 we find him in Cambridge where he married Susanna whom some identify as the daughter of William Sargent, but who was at least the widow of a Mr. William Waterman. Mr. Colby moved to Salisbury, Mass. where in 1647 he sold his house to William Sargent, a seaman, and moved west of the Powow River, that separates Salisbury from Amesbury, where in 1658 he had sixty acres of land given him. He was one of the first "Commissioners" in Amesbury where he received land in 1654 and 1658. He had taken the Freeman's Oath in 1634. He d. Salisbury, Feb. 1, 1661. Had dau. Sarah.

CUMMINGS FAMILY

Isaac Cummings, according to tradition, was of Scotch ancestry, claiming descent from "Red Cumin" of Badenoch in the southeastern district of Inverness-shire, a wild mountainous country presenting wide shelter of bleak moorland. The clan flourished from 1080 to 1330, then began to decline according to the Chronicle of Melrose, which states that the first of the name was slain by Malcolm III at Alnwick in 1093, leaving two sons, John and William. From John all the Cummings of Scotland have descended. Sir John, the Red Cumin or Comyn was the first Lord of Badenoch and in 1420 was an ambassador from Alexander II to Louis IX of France. His son John, called Black Lord of Badenoch was inferior to no subject in Scotland for wealth and power, and was one of those who vowed to support Queen Margaret, daughter of Alexander III.

I. ISAAC CUMMINGS, b. abt. 1601, d. May, 1677; is first mentioned in Essex County, Mass. by the Clerk of Watertown. He received 35 acres in the first land grant in 1636. He owned a planting lot near Reedy Marsh, Ipswich, July 25, 1638 and a home lot there in 1639. He was a commoner in 1639 and took the Freeman's Oath in 1642. He was a Proprietor of Watertown and later at Topsfield. Mr. Cummings served of the Grand Jury in 1675, was Moderator of Town Meeting in 1676, and was a Deacon in the church at Topsfield for many years. Mrs. Cummings' name was Mary. They had a daughter, Ann.

II. ANN CUMMINGS, b. abt. 1629, d. Enfield, Conn., June 29, 1689. She m. as his second wife at Salem, Mass., Oct. or Dec. 8, 1669, John Pease, son of Robert and Marie Pease of Salem. They lived in Enfield, Conn. where Mr. Pease died July 8, 1689. He was b. England, 1629. He was very active in the church and in the town of Enfield. He suddenly sickened in the midst of building activities death making sad havoc in this family, taking the mother ten days before the father, and a daughter within another day. They had a son, Isaac.

GOODELL FAMILY

The two great branches of the Celts were the Goedel or Gaelic, and the Cymric. These were tribal names. In Goedel is found one form of the Goodell. Goedel became Goodell, a spelling around Paris. The family in England is of French origin, a group of French Huguenots in the time of Calvin, by the name of Goodell, having fled to that country in 1530. There is a tradition that the father of Robert Goodell, the emigrant, was a land cultivator and proprietor.

I. ROBERT GOODELL was born in England in 1604; married there in 1629, Katherine Kilham, who was b. 1606. With his wife and three children, Mr. Goodell was a passenger on the ship "Elizabeth", which sailed from Ipswich, England, the last of April, 1634, and settled in Salem, Mass., where he bought 640 acres of land that year. His name is among those of Salem citizens in 1635. He was a man of piety and education, and of considerable wealth. He died in 1682. Had a daughter, Mary.

II. MARY GOODELL was four years of age when she left England in 1634, so was probably born in 1630. She married John Pease, son of Robert and Marie Pease of Salem, b. in England in 1629; d. Enfield, Conn. July 8, 1689. She d. Jan. 5, 1669. They lived in Salem and Springfield, Mass., and Enfield, Conn. Mr. Pease m. 2nd. Ann Cummings of Topsfield, Mass. Had son, John.

HOWLAND FAMILY

A. HENRY HOWLAND of Fen Stanton, Huntingdonshire, England, who was buried May 19, 1635, was the father of John Howland of the "Mayflower."

I. JOHN HOWLAND, one of the Pilgrim Fathers, was possibly kin to Governor Carver and had apparently been in his family for some years. He was born abt. 1593. That he was in Leyden and hence a "Speedwell" passenger appears probable, but is not absolutely certain. He came to Plymouth, Mass. on the "Mayflower" in 1620, and married there, Aug. 14, 1623, Elizabeth Tillie, dau. John Tillie, both of whom were passengers on that vessel. Bradford called Howland a "man-servant" but it is evident that he was much more than a servant. It is observable that Howland signed the Compact before such men as Hopkins, the Tillies, Cooke, Rogers and Priest, which does not indicate much of the servant relation. Howland was clearly a secretary or steward rather than a servant, and a man of standing and influence from the outset. He was early on the list of freemen and was called "Mister" Howland when his name was third on the list of the Governor's Council. He was in the First Encounter with the Indians, and in command of the Kennebec Trading Post in 1634. He served as Juror in 1636, Selectman in 1666, and as Deputy for Plymouth to the General Court thirteen years between 1652 and 1670. Before 1665 Mr. Howland made his last move going to Rocky Nook in Kingston, where he spent the closing years of his life. Elizabeth Howland was a worthy helpmeet for John, being a woman of superior natural abilities and devoted Christian faith. She d. Dec. 21, 1687, aged 80 years. Among their ten children were John and Hope.

II. JOHN HOWLAND was b. Plymouth, Mass. Feb. 24, 1626/7. He m. Oct. 26, 1651, Mary Lee, dau. Robert and Mary Lee. He moved to Marshfield from Plymouth, and in 1658 to Barnstable. He was a man of energy and business ability, and highly respected in the Colony. He was appointed Ensign of the Military Company in Barnstable, 1674; was Selectman 1689. Had daughter, Elizabeth.

II. HOPE HOWLAND, born Plymouth, 1629 and died Barnstable Jan. 8, 1683; m. at Barnstable, in 1646, Elder John Chipman, son of Thomas Chipman, b. England, 1621, and d. Sandwich, Mass. Apr. 7, 1708. Had daughter, Ruth.

III. ELIZABETH HOWLAND, dau. John and Mary (Lee) Howland, was b. Marshfield, Mass. May 17, 1655; m. Barnstable, Dec. 1673, as his first wife, John Bursley, son of John and Joanna (Hull) Bursley, who was bap. Barnstable, Apr. 11, 1652; d. there in 1726. He inherited the mansion house of his father, and being industrious and enterprising left a large estate. Had dau. Joanna.

HULL FAMILY

I. JOSEPH HULL was born in England in 1595, where at the age of nineteen he obtained his degree of A.B. at Oxford. In 1621 he was instituted rector at Northleigh which is described as a small church. Why Rev. Joseph Hull resigned and came to New England is not known. Though he was devoted to the English Church he resigned in 1632 and three years later with wife, Agnes (his second wife) seven children and three servants, together with a company he had collected in Devon and Somersetshire, he sailed for the New World landing at Boston. They settled first in Weymouth, Mass. Religious contentions, however, drove him away and he took his family to Hingham, Mass., of which town he was Representative in 1638 and 1639, and where he was also a local Magistrate. In 1639 he was one of the founders of Barnstable; later he was minister at the Isle of Shoals, York, Oyster Bay and again at the Isle of Shoals. He d. Nov. 19, 1665. Had a daughter, Joanna.

II. JOANNA HULL of Barnstable married at Salisbury, Mass. Nov. 28, 1639, John Bursley, who was b. 1600; d. 1660. After his death she married Dolar Davis. She was living as late as 1686. Had son, John Bursley, and a daughter, Temperance Bursley.

PARTRIDGE FAMILY

A. JOHN PARTRIDGE of Naversink, England. Had daughter, Margery.

I. MARGERIE PARTRIDGE. Tradition says that John and William Partridge, with their sister, Margery, came from England in the fifth ship that followed the "Mayflower", and that they and an older brother, Henry, b. London, 1604, were descended from the Hockham Hall Partridges of Norfolk County, described as landed gentry. Another tradition says they were the children of John Partridge of Naversink, Eng., and that they came to Medford in 1648. But we do know that in 1651, the year after Medfield, Mass. was incorporated, a grant of six acres in that town was made to William Partridge on North Street. He had a sister, Margery, who probably took charge of his house. Thomas Mason built his house as early as 1653. On April 23, 1653 Thomas Mason married Margery Partridge, which was the first wedding in Medfield. A daughter, Mehitable, was one of their six children. On Feb. 21, 1676 the Indians attacked the town, burned thirty-two houses and killed sixteen of the inhabitants, the Masons suffering the most. Thomas Mason and his two sons, Thomas 16 and Zachariah 14, were killed and their house and barn destroyed. One year later the eldest son, John, was killed in the Indian Wars in the east. Widow Mason who was b. England in 1628, d. Medfield, Feb. 7, 1710/11.

PEASE FAMILY

The Peases emigrating to America came first from England, where the name has been common for more than three hundred years back, or as far back as parish registers have been kept to show it. The English Peases are said to be of German origin, and their emigration is placed at a much later period than when the Saxons made their conquest in England. It appears from coats of arms that the English Peases were in Germany as late as A.D. 971 as Otho was monarch of Germany from 972 to 981.

A. JOHN PEASE married Margaret _____. Had son, Robert.

I. ROBERT PEASE lived in Great Baddow, Essex, Eng. He was buried, Apr. 16, 1623. His wife, MARGARET _____, with their son, Robert, sailed in the "Francis" for America, from the port of Ipswich in April, 1634, and landed at Boston. They settled in Salem, Mass. where Widow Pease died in the winter of 1644/5.

II. ROBERT PEASE, b. England, 1607; d. Salem, Mass. in 1644. He came with his mother in the "Francis" in 1634 and lived in Salem. His wife, Marie and some other members of the family probably came in a later ship. She outlived him. Had a son, John.

III. JOHN PEASE, b. England abt. 1630; d. Enfield, Conn., July 8, 1689; m. 1st m. 1st Mary Goodell, dau. Robert and Catharine (Kilham) Goodell, b. abt. 1630; d. Jan. 5, 1669; they had a son, John. Mr. Pease m. 2nd at Salem, Dec. 8, 1669, Ann Cummings, dau. Isaac and Mary Cummings of Topsfield, b. abt. 1629; d. Enfield, June 29, 1689. He moved to Enfield where his sons were of the commissioners who made the purchase of the larger portion of the township in March, 1681. He had previously been located at Fresh Water Brook, then a part of Springfield. He was back in Salem in 1682, but later lived in Enfield after the town was incorporated, where he was active in the church. By his 2nd wife, Ann, Mr. Pease had a son, Isaac.

IV. JOHN PEASE was b. Salem, May 30, 1654; d. Enfield, Nov. 29, 1734; m. Salem, Jan. 30, 1677, Margaret Adams, dau. James and Frances (Vassall) Adams of Ipswich, Mass.; bap. Scituate, Mass., Mar. 18, 1654; d. Enfield, Jan. 2, 1737. Mr. Pease was prominent in the history of Enfield, where he was appointed "land measurer", and was Captain of the first military company in that town. He had a daughter, Sarah.

IV. ISAAC PEASE, b. Salem, July 15, 1672; d. Enfield, July 9, 1731; m. Enfield, June 9, 1691, Mindwell Osborn, dau. John and Abigail (Eggleston) Osborn, b. Windsor, Conn. 2nd week of January, 1673. Mr. Pease settled in the northeastern part of Enfield, not far from what is now Shaker Village. He was an extensive land owner and was among the first holding the office of Deacon in the Congregational Church in that town. Had son, Israel.

V. SARAH PEASE was b. Enfield, Sept. 27, 1689; d. there, 1750; m. there Nov. 15, 1710, Timothy Root, son of Thomas and Mary (Spencer) Root, b. Westfield, Mass. Dec. 3, 1685; d. Somers, Conn., Nov. 9, 1743. Had son, Thomas.

V. ISRAEL PEASE was b. Enfield, May 22, 1702; d. there June 14, 1771; m. there Jan. 6, 1725/6, Sarah Booth, dau. Zechariah and Mary (Harmon) Booth, b. Enfield, May. 10, 1703; d. there July 18, 1792. Had daughter, Alice.

TILLIE FAMILY

I. JOHN TILLIE was one of the Mayflower Pilgrims. Of him Ames writes:

"Master John Tillie, having married twice and having a daughter some 14 years old, must have been over 35 when he sailed in the Pilgrim Ship. His birthplace and antecedents are not known, but he was of the Leyden Congregation." Mr. Tillie was the sixteenth signer of The Compact on Nov. 11, 1620. He was one of "ten of our men" who set out under Captain Myles Standish on the Third Expedition of Discovery, Dec. 6, 1620. On the 8th they had the First Encounter with the Indians and on the 11th found and examined Plymouth Harbor into which the "Mayflower" was safely navigated on the 16th of that month. Both John Tillie and his second wife (name unknown), who came with him, died during the spring of 1621. He had a daughter, Elizabeth.

II. ELIZABETH TILLIE, daughter of John by his first wife, was b. abt. 1607, and came with her father in the "Mayflower" in 1620. She married at Plymouth, Aug. 14, 1623, John Howland, a fellow passenger on the "Mayflower", who was born in England about 1593. He was a Secretary or Steward for Gov. Carver. Mrs. Howland was a worthy helpmeet for John, being a woman of superior natural abilities and devout Christian faith. In 1634 Mr. Howland was in command of the Kennebec Trading Post. After living in Plymouth for many years where their children were born, they spent their last years in Kingston where Mr. Howland died Feb. 23, 1672. His widow died Dec. 21, 1687, aged 80 years. Had son, John and daughter, Hope.

VASSALL FAMILY

The Vassalls trace their ancestry back to an ancient French family of the eleventh century by the name of Du Vasall, Barone de Guerden in Querci, Perigord. He had sons Samuel and William. Of this line came:

A. VASSALL OF RINHART BY CANE, NORMANDY.

B. JOHN VASSALL, sent into England by his father on account of disturbances at home.

C. JOHN VASSALL of Ratcliffe, Stepney and Cockseyhurst, Eastwood, Essex, Eng. d. Sept. 13, 1625 at Stepney. When at St. Dunstan's he married three times: 1st Sept. 25, 1569, Anna Hewes; m. 2nd Sept. 4, 1580, Anne Russell of Ratcliffe, Middlesex. She d. May 5, 1593; m. 3rd Judith Borough, widow of Thomas Scott of Colchester and London. Had son William by second wife.

Captain John Vassall of Essex obtained sufficient wealth and position to become Alderman of London; was a trader and ship owner when Philip II of Spain threatened to conquer England with his Armada in 1588. Vassall equipped and was captain successively of two ships, one the "Samuel", the other the "Tobey Jr." each of 140 tons. When the word spread that the enemy was in the Channel, from every harbor came sloops and fishing smacks bringing recruits to the fleet, and Vassall's ships, both actually smaller than the "Mayflower" were doubtless among these reinforcements which contributed to the disaster which overtook the Spaniards and brought victory and safety to England.

I. WILLIAM VASSALL of Eastwood, Essex, b. at Stepney, Middlesex, Aug. 27, 1592; d. Barbadoes, 1655. He was the first of the name in New England, a Patentee of Mass. Bay Colony. He came first in 1630, alone, but returned in the ship "Lyon" in 1631. In June 1635 he came again in the ship "Blessing" with his wife and six children, his daughter, Frances, being one of these. He settled first in Roxbury, but by November, 1636 was a church member in Scituate where he had built a house the year before. He had married in England, June 9, 1614, Anna, dau. George King of Cold Norton, Essex. He was an Assistant, and became a member of the Council of War in 1642. He became involved in a church dispute in 1646 and returned to England. In 1648 he removed to Barbadoes where he died at the age of 65 years.

II. FRANCES VASSALL, b. England, 1623; m. Marshfield, Mass. June 16, 1646, James Adams, son of John Adams of Plymouth and Scituate. They had a daughter, Margaret.

WHITE FAMILY

A. ROBERT WHITE lived in Messing, Essex, England, a village some distance from Braintree. From the parish records at Felsted and Shalford we have the entry: "Robert eight and Bridget Allgar married June 24, 1585." Shalford was the home of the Allgars where Bridget was bap. Mar. 11, 1562, and where her father, William Allgar was buried Aug. 2, 1575. Robert White left a bequest of forty shillings to Mr. Richard Rogers, Preacher of God's Word at Withersfield, Essex, which indicates that he was friendly with the non-conformists, and a like sum to Bartholomew Scrivener, minister of the Church of God, which implies that he had a continuing interest in the established church. His will was dated May 27, 1617. They had a daughter, Mary.

I. MARY WHITE was bap. Aug. 24, 1590; d. Windsor, Conn. Aug. 23, 1652; m. in England, June 30, 1611, Joseph Loomis, son of John and Agnes (Syngwood (or Lynwood?) WORDEN FAMILY

I. PETER WORDEN is thought to have lived for a while in Lynn, Mass. and was probably from Clayton, Lancashire, England. The year of his arrival is not known, but he was among the early settlers of that narrow section of Cape Cod lying north from Nantucket, eighteen years after the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth. On Feb. 6, 1639 Mr. Worden made his will and must have died soon after as it was proved March 9th of the same year. He styled himself "hatter", and is called old in Plymouth records. He owned lands where now stands Yarmouth Fort, Barnstable County, Mass. It is assumed that he was born in 1569, for at his death he was aged 70 years. There is no mention of his wife, who had probably died in England. He had a son John, and a daughter Eleanor.

II. ELEANOR WORDEN, b. abt. 1598 in England, came to Plymouth as Widow Ellen Lewton, a passenger in the "Anne" in the fall of 1623. She had a grant of one acre of land in the area situated along Cold Brook. She married John Adams who had arrived on the "Fortune", Nov. 9, 1621. After his death in 1633, Widow Adams married in June, 1634, Kenneth Winslow of Marshfield, where she died and was buried Dec. 5, 1681, aged 83 years. Had son, James.
